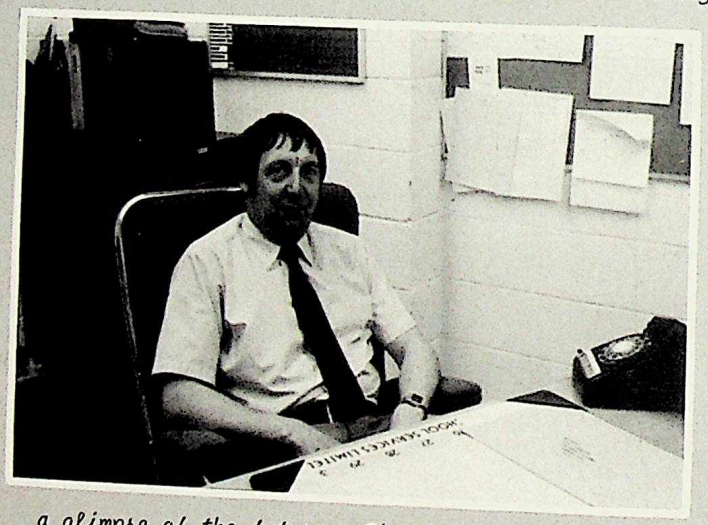
PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGE

As I depart from Rosslyn's hallowed halls of learning, permit me once more to share with you what I've attempted to promote during my seven years at the school.

The foundation stones of honesty, character, faith, integrity, love, and loyalty are necessary for a balanced success that includes health, wealth and happiness. As you go onward and upward in life, you will discover that if you compromise any of these principles you will end up with only a beggar's portion of what life has to offer.

The successes or failures that you will encounter will be greatly determined on how you perceive yourself. A healthy self-image is critical in the success parade. You cannot consistently perform in a manner that is inconsistent with the way you see yourself. Your self-image will lead you to the top of the stairway or put you on an escalator to the basement. Seeing yourself as a deserving person, and you will be - do - and have. See yourself as nondeserving and you have not. The crucial aspect of self-esteem for all people, be they a child or an adult, appears quite clear to me as I pen these lines and reflect upon my own experiences as a teacher and administrator.

Self-esteem is born early in a human being's life. If it is whittled away, we are left bereft of that capacity which makes children special; and it is built upon the reservoir of the adult's home and school that shape the destiny of all children and gives to all lives, both young and old, purpose and direction. Thank you for a most rewarding experience in your community.



ASSISTANT PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGE

"Schools aren't what they used to be" is a statement heard more and more frequently these days as western society stands on the threshold of change dubbed by some futurists as the Third Wave. The first wave began with the Agricultural Revolution, the second marked the beginning of the Industrial Revolution and the third wave signals the advent of the Technological Civilization.

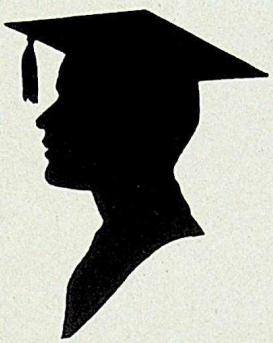
To argue that schools have not changed would be to go against an overwhelming volume of evidence to the contrary. Schools, like many other institutions around us, have changed and will continue to change. Recent developments in communication technology and computers are but a glimpse of the future. These developments and their implementation will alter not only the way we work but also the way we live and how we relate to others.

As society changes, the role of the school in that society must change to meet the needs of the new order. During the Industrial Age the role of the school, a mass education institution, is essentially to teach the overt curriculum consisting of reading, writing and arithmetic, history and some other subjects. The hidden curriculum consists of punctuality, obedience and repetitive work. The graduates of these schools are well prepared for life in an industrial society.

The challenge facing schools today is to know how and where to change to meet the needs of an age that is just now beginning. What do you teach children who are going to live at least sixty years of their lives in a Third Wave world?

The answer can only be - teach them to live with one another in peace and harmony.

Grade Nine



VALEDICTORIAN'S MESSAGE

1981 ROSSLYN JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL VALEDICTORIAN

Master of Ceremonies, Parents, Teachers, and Fellow Students,

Today we were all brought here together for what may very well be the last time. Each of us knows each other in some way, whether it be as friends, acquaintances, or just plain enemies.

Students, take a look around you. These are the people you have spent the last three years of your life with. We have grown up together. We have shared our thoughts, our feelings, our dreams and our destinations. Remember the good times, the bad times, and the times when we never knew what would happen next. We have had fun moments, moments filled with laughter and high spirits. We have lived through arguments with friends and teachers, shared the latest gossip about the new romances, have been through school elections, water fights, after school dances, the many fund raisers, and we have shared the exciting moments as well as some of the boring ones that school has.

There have been many important and popular people in Rosslyn in the last three years. Some have been outstanding in sports, others in their popularity, and the most important ones are those who have succeeded in their own eyes.

An important group of people has been the student council leaders. They have run the student's union very well and brought us what we wanted for intramural activities.

To whom can we attribute our success? The answer is our teachers. They have been the ones to teach us what we will need to know in on-coming years, and about the future that lies ahead. They have tried to make classes exciting and different. (Some were successful!)

Our coaches have also been very helpful. They have trained and prepared us for victory or defeat. They have given helpful criticism and made us do our best and take pride in our school.

Our parents, though, are probably the most important ones. They have stood back and watched us as we slowly began to grow up. They have been behind us all the way and most likely, will continue to do so.

Right now, many of us are uncertain about the future. Some of us have set our goals in life and some of us are still undecided. These last three years have helped us to determine what road we are going to follow from here, who we shall spend our high school years with and where we shall spend them.

The future holds something different for everyone. Some shall be successful in high school and make it on to University or NAIT, others will quit high school and go after the more intriguing things in life. Whatever each of us does, though, I wish everyone luck, and hope that each and every one of you will succeed and get what you really want most out of life.

Thank you.

SOFTBALL

SALUTATORIAN COMMENCEMENT

MASTER OF CEREMONIES, TEACHERS, PARENTS, AND FELLOW GRADUATES:

Today marks a milestone in our lives..... graduation. What is graduation? It originated from the Greek word meaning "step". As we near the completion of grade nine, this marks one more step up the rungs of the ladder which continues to extend upward, for as soon as we reach one step we immediately set our sight upon another.

These past three years seemed to introduce more new challenges but the conclusion seems even more rewarding because we surpassed those challenges. We are now setting goals which will in turn appear more difficult than ever before.

Each minute we think of the past, we consider the potential future awaiting us.

The majority of us will look forward to our first years in high school. This move will be somewhat of a gigantic leap. Each of us will be moulding his own future and the degree of success depends on the efforts of each individual. I hope you will be successful, for there is much to learn and we have much knowledge ta gain from others. However, I hope the knowledge we obtain will be put to good use. In the words of an unknown author, "learning makes the wise, wiser, but the fool only more foolish".

For those of you entering the working world, may you gain a sense of achievement and satisfaction in the occupation you choose. For each job, whatever it may be, has many rewards to offer, be they monetary, the gaining of new friendships or the realization of new goals. May you find success in each endeavor but remember, success is getting what you want, happiness is wanting what you get and happy are those who dream dreams and are ready to pay the price to make them come true.

Whatever the future holds for us, our parents will be there to guide us regardless of our choice but the final decision rests with each of us. You never know, one day a second Elvis, Wayne Gretzky, or the first female prime minister may be from the 1981 graduating class of Rosslyn Junior High.

As we look towards the future, may each of us relate to the following poem by Louise Driscoll:

HOLD FAST YOUR DREAMS

Within your heart
Keep one still, secret spot
Where dreams may go,
And sheltered so,
May thrive and grow -
Where doubt and fear are not.
Oh, keep a place apart
Within your heart.
For little dreams to go.

Congratulations and Good Luck to you all!

Marcella Dolinski
Salutatorian.
